

Institutional Distinctiveness

The College draws its distinctiveness from its location and the student community it serves. The location of the College makes it surrounded by rural areas of the district of Samastipur, home for marginalized section of the society. Most of the students are first generation learners. The College caters to the needs of such students with utmost dedication. Over the five decades of its existence, the College has evolved in identifying the needs of the clientele and serving to the best of their satisfaction and progress. One of the illustrations of such unique achievement has been that the College draws a considerable number of students from other districts as well. The College tries to focus on local community in research and development activities. This can be gauged from the programmes of the NSS and research on local issues such as water quality and development of villages in the recent past.

Policies for maintaining and utilizing (physical, academic and support) facilities

The College has an established policy for maintaining and utilizing physical academic support facilities. As the availability of funds for such purposes is meagre, requisite allocation is made from resources at the disposal of the College. The College tries to optimally utilize physical academic resources through planning in consultation with concerned departments. The maintenance of these facilities is followed by case-by-case basis as and when needed with respect to the ability of the College in allocation of funds from available resources.

Best Practices

1. The college tries to approach all possible sources and augment resources for development. The College has received generous grant from the Member of Parliament (Lok Sabha), Shri Prince Raj Paswan, for road construction within the campus and open-gymnasium. The campus branch of the Punjab National Bank had donated a water purifier to the college in the recent past.
2. The college tries to meet the lack of teaching staff with guest teachers who conduct classes. The College has also been utilizing the services of teachers of different schools and colleges for conducting examinations.
